

DEATH CLAIMS
EARLY PIONEER

Claiborn Weddell, One of Oldest Men in the County Passes Away at Home Near Medora.

WAS OVER NINETY YEARS OLD.

Was Prominent in the Early History of Carr Township.—Survived by Four Generations of Children.

Claiborn Weddell, aged 90 years, a prominent citizen of Carr township, and one of the oldest men in Jackson county, died early this morning at the home on his son, Morton, near Medora. He had been in failing health due to his advanced age for some time. In the death of Mr. Weddell this county loses another of the early pioneers who held as important place in the development and growth of this community.

Mr. Weddell was a native of Jackson county having been born in Carr township, December 3, 1821. He experienced all the hardships which were endured by the pioneers of any community and his career was one of active work and labor. He worked for his father on the farm until he was eighteen years of age when he hired himself out to neighboring farmers for the small sum of fifty cents a day. When he was twenty years of age he purchased forty acres of forest land in Carr township and after clearing this he sold it and became the owner of another larger and better farm. At the time of his death he was a large land owner and most of his farms are located in the western part of the county near the family home.

In 1854 Mr. Weddell and his brother purchased the steam flouring mill at Weddellville, a little village named in honor of the family, where they also built and conducted a store. He disposed of this property two years after it was purchased, and resumed his agricultural operations in Brownstown township.

Mr. Weddell was married five times and was the father of sixteen children, eight of whom are living. They are: Mrs. Erie Mottisinger, of California, Mrs. Martha Grantham of Uniontown, and Craig, Morton, Charles, Lincoln, Melvin and Wayne, all of whom live in the vicinity of Medora.

He is also survived by twenty-four grandchildren, forty-four great-grand children and one great-great-grand child.

The deceased was well known throughout the county, and was a highly respected citizen. He always exhibited an interest in the welfare of the community and county in which he lived and took an active part in public affairs. He was a staunch believer in the principles of the republican party from the time of its organization. He was a member of the Christian church.

The funeral services will be held Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock from the Christian church at Medora. Burial at Heighon Hill cemetery.

UNIQUE DEMONSTRATION

Watch is Frozen in Solid Cake of Ice.
Keeps Perfect Time.

A watch frozen in a solid cake of ice in front of the Jackson jewelry store is attracting considerable attention today. The time-piece is manufactured by the South Bend Watch Co., and although it is entirely surrounded by ice, it keeps perfect time. The object of the demonstration is to show that the watch has been carefully adjusted and will keep accurate time under any degree of temperature.

The company that manufactures the watch declares that it takes longer to make the various parts and adjust them than is required to build the average sky-scraper in the large city. The watch in the cake of ice was placed on the side walk and has been seen by a large number of persons today.

MANY MEMBERS OF CHURCH NOT LOYAL

Rev. A. W. Conner Declares More
Time is Given to Pleasure Than Religious Work.

INFLUENCE UPON THE BOY.

Dancing, Social Card Games, Bulletin
Boards and Post Cards Get Severe Scoring.

Dancing, card playing and the method of modern dress were among the things, which were strongly condemned by Rev. A. W. Conner in his address last night, as tending to demoralize the American boy. The lecture was given at the First M. E. church and was heard by one of the largest audiences of the week.

The speaker bitterly criticized the actions of many of the church members of the present day and said that they gave more time to pleasure than they did to the work of the church.

In speaking of the social card game, Mr. Conner stated that it was a menace to the boys of this day for it was in such games that they cultivated their desire to gamble. The gambling dens of the country would go out of existence, according to Mr. Conner, if the boys were not taught the principles of the card games in their homes. The appetite for card playing, which in many cases eventually leads to gambling, is very strong and is more difficult to overcome than the appetite for liquor. Graft, dishonesty and the general vicious influences in the modern city are due directly to the social game of cards and public conditions will not be bettered until the parents of the present day realize that the logical end of the social card game results in lowering the standard of honesty. Mr. Conner stated that cards were invented to amuse an idiotic king, and from the number of people who enjoy such games that king must have a great many descendants in America.

He bitterly denounced the social dance and said that no girl could attend a dance with her brother without endangering his character. He said that the home dance had a degrading influence upon the American youth and that it was hard for him to overcome the lessons he there learned.

Among other things which were denounced by the speaker was the modern dress seen in social circles, the bulletin boards displaying their vulgar pictures and the post cards which had become so obnoxious that it was necessary for the government to place a regulation upon the kinds which could be sent through the mails.

Mr. Conner spoke upon other influences which were encountered by the boy of today and pointed out the obligations that parents have in rearing their son, so that he will not come in conflict with degrading forces. He showed that every boy wanted to do right and with the proper training he would grow into manhood willing to stand for principles of right and justice.

The boys' banquet which has been arranged will be given in the lecture room of the M. E. church this evening

Public opinion and Boards of Health are demanding more and more care and cleanliness in the handling of food products. Every feature looking toward sanitary conditions has been taken care of in the construction of our new fountain.

It would take too much space for us to attempt to convey in this article an adequate idea of all the improved features of an up-to-date soda fountain, but if you will come to our store we will gladly show you and explain every detail.

However a brief description of the outfit will not be out of place at this time.

TAFT IN MIDST OF MARYLAND FIGHT

The President and Roosevelt Make
Many Speeches in Closing Hours of Campaign.

DEMOCRATS ARE ALSO BUSY.

Result of the Presidential Primary on Monday Is Still Uncertain.

Baltimore, May 4.—President Taft and Theodore Roosevelt were riding up and down and across Maryland today on special trains in their last strenuous attempt to win the state's sixteen delegates to the Chicago convention.

Democratic orators also were out, and the day in Maryland was given up wholly to politics. Roosevelt closed his first day's campaign last night in this city and started out again this morning. A long program had been arranged for the President today. It called for speeches at Hyattsville, Laurel, Aberdeen, Elkton, Bel Air, Havre de Grace and Baltimore.

Mr. Taft went at it hammer and tongs today, even showing more spirit in his attacks on Roosevelt than he did on his swing through Massachusetts. Again and again he told his audiences, and they were big ones, too—that he had been misrepresented and misquoted by Roosevelt.

"I'm a man of peace," he said, "and don't want to fight, but when I do fight, I want to hit hard." He denounced the Roosevelt recall proposition and other radical doctrines preached by his leading opponent, and the voters showed their approval of these denunciations by their cheers and applause.

One of the surface indications against Taft is that the votes in Baltimore, regarded as a Taft stronghold, do not count for much. A pencil, paper and close attention are necessary to get anything like a peep into the intricacies of the wonderful presidential preference election which is going to be staged in Maryland Monday.

If You Were an Expert, What Car Would You Buy?

The time has passed when automobiles can be sold to you on their appearances or claims. This is a day when you and every purchaser must be shown what the car for which you pay your money will actually perform; what it will do. Beware of an automobile salesman who attempts to beguile you with a pleasing story. Tell him to show the goods and prove to you that his cars are worth the money. Find out whether his car is a real car or only an assembled automobile built to sell.

You have a right to your money's worth, but it is up to you to see that you get it. Deeper than all appearances, there are a few expert tests which ought to be applied to every car.

Who makes the car? Is it an assembled car or made from top to bottom by one manufacturer? What kind of a guarantee is on it? Does the manufacturer respect his own product with a real guarantee, or does he want you to take the chance? What do parts cost you and how conveniently can you get them? How many cars of this make are in service and how many are giving satisfaction? Questions like these go deep into the heart of the case, and if you put them rigorously upon any car you will find out with a certainty whether or not that car is worth its price.

We are selling Studebaker E-M-F "30" and Flanders "20" cars because we know that, dollar for dollar, their equal is not sold in the market today. The records of many thousands of cars in all kinds of service have convinced us absolutely. Studebaker E-M-F "30" and Flanders "20" cars are built to run, and because they run they sell. If we cannot prove to you under the most searching test that Studebaker cars are absolutely the best automobile values in the market, we do not want your business; but we can prove it, and your neighbors who drive these cars will tell you the same thing.

Be an expert when it comes to buying a car. You can, by getting from us some further ideas on real tests of an automobile. Clip the attached coupon and send it to us now because we have something new to tell you which you ought to know, whatever car you have in mind.

WHITE CAR COMES BACK

FAMOUS AUTOMOBILE IN FORMER RACING DAYS COMPETES.

Gasoline Car Replaces Steam Machine in Second Annual 500-Mile Race at Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Not since the days of old "Whistling Billy" and Webb Jay on the Florida beaches has the name of White been heard in the motor car racing sport until now when the announcement is made that a White "Six" gasoline car has been entered in the second annual 500-mile International Sweepstakes race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway next Memorial Day, with "Win" Barndollar nominated to pilot it through the long grind. The entry was made by the White Motor Car Company of Indianapolis, and Barndollar will take the big six-cylinder creation into the contest for that branch of the White company.

The latest entry to the half-thousand mile grind has a piston stroke of four and one-quarter inches and a cylinder bore of five and three-quarters inches, giving a piston displacement of 489 cubic inches under the peculiar White bonnet. With 114 inches wheel base and a clearance of but five inches the new speed car will be specially built for the two and a half mile brick track.

Although Barndollar has been a racing driver since 1906, he has intentionally kept from the public eye because of a desire to keep his professionalism from his family. However he has announced his willingness to take his chance with the new speed car and comes out openly as its pilot in the Memorial Day race. He has been successful in many road and track events and will prove a fit contender for the other "speed monarchs" who have been listed to send their cars through the five-century route.

This entry makes the fifteenth to list in the nation's greatest event, and from now until the time of entry closing, May 1, there will be added starters which are certain to bring the contest into a class even greater than the first 500-mile race.

The other entries to this event are as follows: Two Stutz cars with Gil Anderson and Len Zengle named as drivers; two National with Herr, Wilcox and Merz to drive; two Mercedes to be driven by Ralph De Palma and Spencer Wishart; two Case racing cars with Harvey Herrick and Louis Disbrow at the wheels; a Fiat under the hand of Teddy Tetzlaff; one Lexington driven by Harry Knight; a Cutting with "Wild Bob" Burman, world's speed king, as pilot; a Simplex driven by Bert Dingley, and a Knox owned and driven by Ralph Mulford. With the tentative entries now offered the field is brought up to twenty-five cars, with several others ready to declare their intention of entering the lists.

The field will be limited to thirty starters this year as the Speedway management has decided that this number will offer a better contest for such a long distance. With two and a half miles of the best track in the world to traverse it is believed that all past records for any distance will be broken in this all-day conflict.

REO THE FIFTH.

"Nothing is so conducive to the attainment of maximum enjoyment and satisfaction in the use of a motor car as the fact that its axles, transmission, differential, steering gear, springs and other vital parts are built of the very best material obtainable in the market," says R. E. Olds, president of the Reo Motor Car Company.

In our completely equipped modern laboratory all the material used in the Reo the Fifth is thoroughly tested. Not a gear, bearing or other vital part, even to the minutest screw, nut and bolt, enters into its construction but measures up to the rigid Reo standard of strength and hardness. Our gears are all carefully tested in a crushing machine, capable of fifty tons' pressure. The usual test is a hammer test which, to say the least, is unscientific and inexact.

This is why we are now, even at this early date, being literally flooded with specifications for early deliveries of Reo the Fifth which is the twenty-fourth model which I have built and which I believe comes nearer being the ideal family car than any car ever built. What is best of all, our various economies and great production permit us to sell it at a price which the average man can easily pay. On the other hand its strength throughout insures the lowest possible cost of upkeep.

Smiling Pilot Buys New Racing Motor

RALPH MULFORD.

After winning many of the world's greatest motor car races, and piling up a neat little fortune, Ralph Mulford has purchased a six-cylinder Knox racing car which he will pilot in the second annual 500-mile International Sweepstakes at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway next Memorial Day. Mulford's latest victory was the winning of the Vanderbilt cup race at Savannah in November last year.

Having business to transact at the court house, A. P. Mitchell, a Fort Worth motorist, amazed the county officials by driving his Flanders "20" roadster up the lofty flight of steps to the main floor, stopping in front of the county clerk's office. His business concluded, Mr. Mitchell drove out another door, descending the south row of steps with the same ease shown in climbing the north ones.

STEAM VULCANIZING.

R. W. Irwin Has Installed New Up-to-Date Equipment.

Every owner of an automobile will have some tire trouble—if he keeps his machine long enough. Until recently it was necessary to send the tubings to Indianapolis or Louisville to get them properly repaired, and often it was inconvenient.

R. W. Irwin has installed an equipment which is proving most satisfactory. He is now prepared to vulcanize all tires, both outer cases and inner tubings, and the work can be more quickly done and just as good as when it was necessary to send it out of the city. He is kept busy most of the time and is getting considerable business from out of town as well as local business.

glass, not a single piece of wood. It consists of a solid German silver drain board and wash basin into which a stream of fresh water is admitted from the bottom in such a manner as to keep the water constantly agitated. It overflows from the top thus carrying off any scum which may arise from the washing of glasses. There is an automatic tumbler rinser in which glasses are rinsed in clear running water after being washed. The work board also includes a removable porcelain dipper well, for holding ice cream dipper, a compartment for chipped ice and a compartment for storing extra syrups.

Along the front side of the apparatus is a row of six one gallon solid porcelain syrup jars fitted with black tin dripless syrup pumps. Also four one gallon porcelain crushed fruit jars with tight fitting covers and silver plated labels attached. They are so arranged that it is impossible for dust, water or any extraneous matter to get into the syrup. All syrup jars fit into a refrigerated air space which is at all times maintained at a uniform low temperature. The ice cream cabinet is built in the fountain and its walls are insulated with a thick layer of pressed cork and asbestos as are also the outer walls of the entire apparatus. The entire outfit is refrigerated from the ice cream cabinet, thus reducing the consumption of ice to a minimum.

The outfit also includes an automatic electric carbonator for carbonating or charging the water. The machine is automatic and electrically controlled and keeps the water charged at a uniform pressure of 150 lbs. This insures a uniform product always well carbonated, cold, clear and sparkling.

This in brief describes a modern American Soda Fountain. Nowhere in the world is soda so popular as in the United States, and in no other county in the world have soda fountain manufacturers developed their machine to such marvelous perfection.

The great popular American drink is soda, pure, sparkling, refreshing, harmless, delicious and nourishing, good for young and old, inexpensive and healthful. Our new soda fountain stands ready to serve the public with good cheer in all its newness, purity and cleanliness.

Yours for pure soda,
C. E. LOERTZ, Druggist.

SATURDAY NIGHT SERMONS

BY
REV. SAMUEL W. PURVIS, D.D.

TAKING CARE OF NO. 2.

Text, "Bear ye one another's burdens."—Gal. vi. 2.

If No. 1 is ourself No. 2 is the other fellow. "Every man shall bear his own burdens," says Paul, and almost in the same breath he says, "Bear ye one another's burdens." Surely! My weaker brother is to do all he can, and I, who am strong, am to help him. We hear much about the "white man's burden," the "black man's burden," the "nation's burden," the burden of society, the burden of our brothers in the iron mills of Bethlehem or the textile workers of Lawrence. My brother who is blind and he who is crippled have a burden to bear, often more than they are able to endure. Indeed, life itself is a burden to many. The object in taking care of No. 2 is not to make a strong man helpless, but to help him until he is capable of taking care of himself. The poor fellow on the Jericho road needed help only till he got to safety and relief. The good Samaritan didn't tarry longer, and the traveler didn't ask him to stay. I'm mighty favorably impressed with secret fraternal organizations. They care for their sick brother and then for his widow and orphans. "Godless institutions?" Don't you believe it. They are Christian in spirit. I've often found them the handmaidens of the church.

Doubling the Gift.

He gives twice who gives quickly. When a person is struggling with an obstacle in his throat he wants help of a definite kind and that immediately. Don't ask him what it is, how he came to swallow it, when or why. Get at that obstruction with spoon or finger, and do it quick, before his eyes bulge and his face blackens. There's another odd psychological fact in giving, and that is that there must be the human touch in it. Ever notice the inscription on the monument in front of Pratt Institute in Brooklyn erected in honor of the founder? "The giving that counts is the giving of oneself." The flower in the florist's window is beautiful, but in the hand of your sick friend it is more, for it is then giving its perfume, part of its own self.

Human nature is so constituted that this is and must be true. You must put two men together on the desert railroad tracks or lonely lighthouse tower. The Master sent the disciples forth two by two. That human touch makes the difference. "Why are you gazing so at my shoulder?" said John B. Gough to a newly introduced acquaintance. "I was looking for the spot where Joel Stratton touched you that night when you turned from drink to God and humanity." So, too, came the sick and women with their babies that the Man of Nazareth might touch them.

"Not Ashamed of the Chain."

I stood back of the United States census bureau's exhibit of tuberculosis shortly ago and watched the faces before me. The thing that fascinated them was the red electric death bulb between two white ones. Every two minutes and thirty-six seconds that red one flashed, indicating that some one died of the dread disease. At first they looked with curiosity; then it grew on them. There a man stood sobbing, yonder a woman was led away fainting. Some weaker brother had gone under with the white plague. I slipped a bag of crisp doughnuts to a company of Lawrence strikers' children as they stood ragged and forlorn in the biting wind of Philadelphia's streets. "I wouldn't give 'em nothin'; they're dagoes," said a proud "American" near me. I don't care. They're my "dago" brother's child, then. Somehow I could not help thinking of the homely Missouri Ozark mountain folk song: "Makes no difference if he is a houn', They've gotta quit kickin' my dawg aroun'."

"Other sheep have I that ye know not of," said the Master. "For he oft refreshed me and was not ashamed of my chain." So Paul wrote to Timothy concerning Onesiphorus. Paul was in prison, and this disciple came and administered and pretended not to notice the chain. Most of our brothers are carrying a chain of some kind or other.

The Password to Heaven.

What is your claim to heaven? What will you say to the angel at the gate? Will you murmur your little creed and whisper your denominational name? "I've never known you," will be the answer. Christ had a trick of stripping a man of his external trappings and judging his naked soul. One day near his death, when the mob was crowding the street, the conspirators were in the palace, and the Jewish leaders and Roman officials had agreed on his blood price, when his feet were standing on the brink of the great secret he lifted the veil, and men saw God in humanity—the little orphan child, the slave, the ragged prodigal, the broken hearted sinner and said, "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these ye did it unto me." Then the command to enter into the joys of their Lord—this was the open sesame, the password into heaven. Let mobs surge, steel clad soldier sneer, wealthy woman in satin lined litter glance haughtily, rich Jewish merchants fearing their trade shun him—better millions about their neck and drowned in depths of sea. No crime so great before God as shut heart and clinched fist toward one's fellows. Better the hand open in crucifixion.

and it is expected that several hundred boys will be in attendance.

Mr. Conner paid a high compliment to the parents and the public schools of Seymour when he said that he had never found an audience of boys who were so easily controlled as those here. He said the boys were obedient and quiet and that this was the result of proper training by the parents and the schools.

Sunday afternoon, Mr. Conner will give a lecture upon "Heart Bindings of a Boy." This meeting will be given under the auspices of the Men and Religion Forward Movement and will be for men only. Every man in the city is given a cordial invitation to be present and hear this excellent sermon. It will be given in the auditorium of the First Baptist church. In the evening a union meeting will be held at the Baptist church, and the Rev. Mr. Conner will speak upon the subject, "If There Were No Church, What Then." Both of these sermons have been highly commended and are among the best delivered by Mr. Conner.

INCREASE IN WAGES.

Railroads Have Higher Scale Than In 1911.

In view of the wage controversy between the railroads and engineers railroad officials appoint to an interesting feature of a bulletin issued by the Bureau of Railway Economics in which it is disclosed that substantial increases were made in the wages paid railway employees during the fiscal year ended June, 30, 1911.

Reports filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission show that the total compensation to the employees of railways more than 500 miles in length was $1,005,277,249. The total wage cost to the railways for the year was greater by $11,868,822 than it would have been at the rates of pay in effect during 1910 and greater by $69,297,678 than it would have been at the rates of pay in effect in 1909.

Notwithstanding an increase of 2,108 in the miles of rails operated there were 31,037 fewer employees on the pay rolls June 30, 1911, than June 30, 1910. The total wage increase is greater than the increase in the gross earnings of the railways by $22,595,121.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

EVERYBODY'S LONESOME.

One of the best stories of recent years is the one entitled "The Secret in Her Heart."

Briefly the story is this: A girl was lonesome, unpopular and far from being judged handsome in person. She wore a dissatisfied look. She was sour, morose, discontented.

An older woman of much experience felt sorry for the girl. She told the young woman a great secret. The secret contained only two words: "Everybody's lonesome."

The girl took the saying to her heart. She said the words over and over in her mind. She pondered them until she began to understand how selfish and unlovely she was. She began to use the secret, and it became a potent charm that transformed her life.

The secret of it? Simply this: When you come to realize that everybody, regardless of condition, is just like you; that everybody craves companionship, sympathy, encouragement—why, you ought no longer to envy any one or hate any one or withhold your help and sympathy from any.

Do you see?

This is the way the charm works when put into service: When you give out smiles and sympathy and charity you forget your loneliness; when you lose your selfishness in charity you lose your envious; when you make yourself friendly you make yourself popular; when you make others happy you make yourself happy.

Everybody's lonesome.

The girl found it to be so. When she understood she was no longer hateful or morbid. Her dissatisfaction left her. She became generous, cheerful and popular. She was sought out for her charm of mind and heart and because of her sympathetic understanding of others.

Everybody's lonesome.

Everybody's built that way.

Do you realize how true it is, my friend? Your father, mother, sister, brother, friend, the one who works beside you in shop or store or office or field, your next door neighbor, the man or woman in the street, the stranger, everybody—everybody's lonesome.

Say the words over.

If you will ponder them in your inmost soul they may give you a new point of view.

To understand that everybody's lonesome ought to foster charity, teach you appreciation of the need of others, enable you to get closer to the lonesome hearts of humans and—that's the secret—put within you the potency of power.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR APPLE CROP

Trees Are in Bloom and Reports From Various Parts of The County

PEACHES KILLED BY WINTER.

Currants and Blackberries Will Be a

Scarce Article This Summer.

From present indications there will be a bumper apple crop in Jackson county this year. The trees are reported to be in excellent condition and are now filled with blossoms and unless damage is done by a late frost, the crop will be one of the largest for some time.

It was feared several weeks ago that the severe weather had injured the trees and that the crop would be light. However, the orchards seem to have stood the cold weather very well.

At the Jackson orchard, south of the city, where the trees are being cared for under the direction of the Purdue Experimental Station, the trees are in excellent condition. It was impossible to give the trees the winter spraying and the first spraying was done a few weeks ago just before the buds came out. The blossoms on the Ben Davis trees and a few of the other varieties are dropping now and the second spray is being placed on the trees. Before the apples are fully matured the trees and fruit will have been sprayed five times.

The demand for apples from this part of the state is constantly growing and a good price is received from the ready market. In some parts of the state the apple crop is reported light and it is predicted that the price will be good this summer. In case there is a scarcity of apples the coming summer the orchards of this county will be a good paying investment.

The Jackson orchard has demonstrated to the farmers of this community that it pays well to give the trees proper attention and that big returns are derived from spraying and scientific care of the trees in general. E. L. Richards of the Purdue Experimental Station visited the orchard recently and stated that the trees were in a greatly improved condition and that he looked for one of the largest apple crops ever picked from their orchard.

The pear trees are also in blossom and seem to have come through the unusual winter in a good condition. Plum trees are also reported to be in excellent shape and it is believed there will be a good supply of plums in this vicinity. Farmers from various parts of the county report that there will be a shortage of blackberries this summer, as the cold weather has killed practically all of the bushes on the clay ground, however, a few on the sand land survived the weather in fairly good shape.

The currants, gooseberries and other small fruits were seriously damaged by the cold weather and while the plants and bushes have not been entirely killed, the crops will be light.

FARMER HANGS IN BARN

Alexander Kelley, of Alert, Committed Suicide Friday.

Alexander Kelley, a wealthy farmer of Alert, Bartholomew county, committed suicide Friday by hanging himself in his barn. His wife missed him and upon a search found his body hanging from the rafters. She gave the alarm and a neighboring farmer cut the body down, but all efforts to revive Kelley were futile. Kelley's mother and sister live at Hope and he has several relatives near Grammer.

A letter and $105 in cash were found on the dead man's person. The letter stated that Kelley had contemplated suicide for a year and that he had finally made up his mind to commit the act. He said that no blame could be attached to his wife whatever as he declared in his letter that she had been good and faithful throughout their married life. He requested that the money found in his pockets be used to pay any debts that might be found against him.

The move throughout the state for better prosecutors will meet with the approval of every good citizen, yet without their active support such a campaign would be a failure. Any move, no matter how worthy it is, will not succeed unless the people who are interested in it will use their influence in its behalf. As long as the office of prosecuting attorney is regarded merely as a political reward and men are selected without reference to ability or qualifications the public cannot expect that the best officials will be elected at all times. The question of selecting good officers depends solely upon the majority of the people, for the choosing of the officials is left to them.

TELL OF SHOOTING

Witnesses in Allen Case Continue Tale of Courthouse Tragedy.

Wytheville, Va., May 4.—Witnesses for the commonwealth in the Floyd Allen case continued to tell of the shooting in the Carroll county courthouse. The prosecution is endeavoring to prove not only that the accused shot and killed Commonwealth's Attorney Foster, but that he and his fellow-clansmen had previously conspired to murder court officers and jurors if he should be convicted of the offense for which he was about to be sentenced to a prison term when the shooting began.

Death For Rapist.

Louisville, Ky., May 4.—John Connors, charged with an attack on Rosaline, the nine-year-old daughter of Charles Grabrowsky, was sentenced to death. The crime was committed in the yard of the parish school of St. Peter's Catholic church, Feb. 19. The principal testimony in the case was given by the little girl, who identified Connors.

Congressmen Hereafter Must Account For Their Secretaries.

Washington, May 4.—The house was shocked when Representative Bartlett of Georgia compelled members to vote for an amendment to the legislative bill requiring that the names of secretaries to members shall be placed on the payroll. For years members have been granted an allowance of $1,500 a year for clerk hire. This money has been paid in some instances, it is charged, to dummies that performed no service and in others it has been whispered it has gone into the pockets of members.

Maryland's Primaries Monday.

Baltimore, May 4.—Maryland, as Massachusetts was last week, is in a turmoil of politics, and candidates are scampering all over the state every day, bidding for votes in Monday's primaries. CHAPTER XXXIX.

Wolves in the Fold.

Mallory's heart sank to its usual depth, but Marjorie had another of her inspirations. She startled everybody by suddenly beginning and calling: "Excuse me, Mr. robber. Come here, please."

The curious gallant edged her way, keeping a sharp watch along the line: "What d'you want?"

Marjorie leaned nearer, and spoke in a low tone with an amiable smile: "That lady who wanted to kiss you has a bracelet up her sleeve."

The robber stared across his mask, and wondered, but laughed, and grunted: "Much obliged." Then he went back, and tapped Kathleen on the shoulder. When she turned round, in the hope that he had reconsidered his refusal to make the trade, he infuriated her by growling: "Excuse me, miss, I overlooked a bet."

He ran his hand along her arm, and found her bracelet, and accomplished what Mallory had failed in, its removal.

"Don't, don't," cried Kathleen, "it's wished on."

"I wish it off," the villain laughed, and it joined the growing heap in the feed-bag.

Kathleen, doubly enraged, broke out viciously: "You're a common, sneaking—"

"Ah, turn round!" the man roared, and she obeyed in silence.

Then he explored Mrs. Whitcomb, but with such small reward that he said: "Say, you'd oughter have a pocketbook somewhere. Where's it at?"

Mrs. Whitcomb blushed furiously: "None of your business, you low brute."

"Perdooce, madame," the scoundrel snorted, "perdooce the purse, or I'll hunt for it myself."

Mallory almost dropped in his tracks, and Marjorie keeled over on him, as he gasped: "Good Lord, Dr. Temple, you are a—minister?"

"Yes, my boy," the old man confessed, glad that the robbers had relieved him of his guilty secret along with the rest of his private properties. Mallory looked at the collapsing Marjorie and groaned: "And he was in the next berth all this time!"

The unmasking of the old fraud made a second sensation. Mrs. Fosdick called from far down the aisle: "Dr. Temple, you're not a detective?" Mrs. Temple shouted back furiously: "How dare you?"

But Mrs. Fosdick was crying to her luscious-eyed mate: "Oh, Arthur, he's not a detective. Embrace me!"

And they embraced, while the robbers looked on aghast at the sudden oblivion they had fallen into. They focussed the attention on themselves again, however, with a ferocious: "Here, hands up!" But they did not see Mr. and Mrs. Fosdick steal a kiss behind their upraised arms, for the robber to whose lot Mallory fell was gloating over his well-filled wallet. Mallory saw it go with fortitude, but noting a piece of legal paper, he said: "Say, old man, you don't want that marriage license, do you?"

The robber handled it as if it were hot—as if he had burned his fingers on some such document once before, and he stuffed it back in Mallory's pocket. "I should say not. Keep it. Turn round."

Meanwhile the other felon turned up another beautiful pile of bills in Dr. Temple's pocket. "Not so worse for a parson," he grinned. "You must be one of them Fifth avenue skyscrapers."

And now Mrs. Temple's gentle eyes and voice filled with tears again: "Oh, don't take that. That's the money for his vacation—after thirty long years. Please don't take that."

Her appeals seemed always to find the tender spot of this robber's heart, for he hesitated, and called out: "Shall we overlook the parson's wad, podner?"

"Take it, and shut up, you molly-coddle!" was the answer he got, and the vacation funds joined the old gewgaws.

And now everybody had been robbed but Marjorie. She happened to be at the center of the line, and both men reached her at the same time: "I seen her first," the first one shouted.

"You did not," the other roared.

"I tell you I did."

"I tell you I did." They glared threateningly at each other, and their revolvers seemed to meet, like two game cocks, beak to beak.

like a leaf, and the sweat globed on his forehead.

The worst of it was the shivering terror of Marjorie, and the pitiful eyes she turned on him. But he clenched his teeth and waited, thinking fiercely, watching, like a hovering eagle, a chance to swoop.

But the robbers kept glancing this way and that, and one motion would mean death. They themselves were so overwrought with their own ordeal and its immediate conclusion, that they would have killed anybody. Mallory shifted his foot cautiously, and instantly a gun was jabbed into his stomach, with a snarl: "Don't you move!"

"Who's moving?" Mallory answered, with a poor imitation of a careless laugh.

And now the man called Bill had reached Marjorie's right hand. He chortled: "Golly, look at the shiners."

But Jake, who had chosen Marjorie's left hand, roared:

"Say, you cheated. All I get is this measly plain gold band."

"Oh, don't take that!" Marjorie gasped, clenching her hand.

Mallory's heart ached at the thought of this final sacrilege. He had the license, and the minister at last—and now the fiends were going to carry off the wedding ring. He controlled himself with a desperate effort, and stooped to plead: "Say, old man, don't take that. That's not fair."

"Shut up, both of you," Jake growled, and jabbed him again with the gun.

He gave the ring a jerk, but Marjorie, in the very face of the weapon, would not let go. She struggled and tugged, weeping and imploring: "Oh, don't, don't take that! It's my wedding ring."

"Agh, what do I care!" the ruffian snarled, and wrenched her finger so viciously that she gave a little cry of pain.

That broke Mallory's heart. With a wild, bellowing, "Damn you!" he hurled himself at the man, with only his bare hands for weapons.

(To be concluded)

POWER IS LIMITED

Board of Health Has No Authority Over New School Buildings.

In an opinion to Charles A. Great-house, state superintendent of public instruction, the attorney-general has said that a school corporation may contract a debt up to the 2 per cent limit of total taxables prescribed by law irrespective of the indebtedness of the civil city of the same municipality.

In the same opinion it is held that when a school corporation receives pupils from another corporation by transfer it must provide proper housing for such pupils even if additional rooms must be rented. A third part of the opinion was to the effect that while the state board of health has power to condemn unsanitary conditions in a school building and to prevent its being used until the conditions are removed, the question of a new building or repairs to the old, are matters entirely up to the school authorities.

Practical Fashions

GIRL'S DOUBLE-BREADED COAT.

For a warm, serviceable coat for the small girl no nicer design could be followed than the one here shown. The fastening is close to the neck which is finished with a turn-down collar. Deep turn-back cuffs complete the sleeves. Cheviot is a good suggestion for the making of the garment, and with the collar and cuffs of velvet an effective touch is imparted.

The pattern (5692) is cut in sizes from 4 to 12 years. To make the coat in the medium size will require 2 yards of 44 inch material and 1/2 yard of 24 inch velvet.

To procure this pattern send 10 cents to "Pattern Department," of this paper. Write name and address plainly, and be sure to give size and number of pattern.

THE HOLD-UP.

Mrs. Whitcomb turned away, and after some management of her skirts, slapped her handbag into the eager palm with a wrathful: "You're no gentleman, sir!"

"If I was, I'd be in Wall street," he laughed. "Now you can turn round." And when she turned, he saw a bit of chain depending from her back hair. He tugged, and brought away the locket, and then proceeded to sound Ashton for hidden wealth.

And now Mrs. Temple began to sob, as she parted with an old-fashioned brooch and two old-fashioned rings that had been her little vanities for the quarter of a century and more. The old clergyman could have wept with her at the vandalism. He turned on the wretch with a heartsick appeal:

"Can't you spare those? Didn't you ever have a mother?"

The robber started, his fierce eyes softened, his voice choked, and he gulped hard as he drew the back of his hand across his eyes.

"Aw, hell," he whimpered, "that ain't fair. If you're goin' to remind me of me poor old mo-mo-mother—"

But the one called Jake—the Claude Duval who had been prevented from a display of human sentiment, did not intend to be cheated. He thundered: "Stop it, Bill. You 'tend strictly to business, or I'll blow your mush-bowl off. You know your Maw died before you was born."

This reminder sobered the weeping thief at once, and he went back to work ruthlessly. "Oh, all right, Jake. Sorry, ma'am, but business is business." And he dumped Mrs. Temple's trinkets into the satchel. It was too much for the little old lady's little old husband. He fairly shrieked:

"Young man, you're a damned scoundrel, and the best argument I ever saw for hell-fire!"

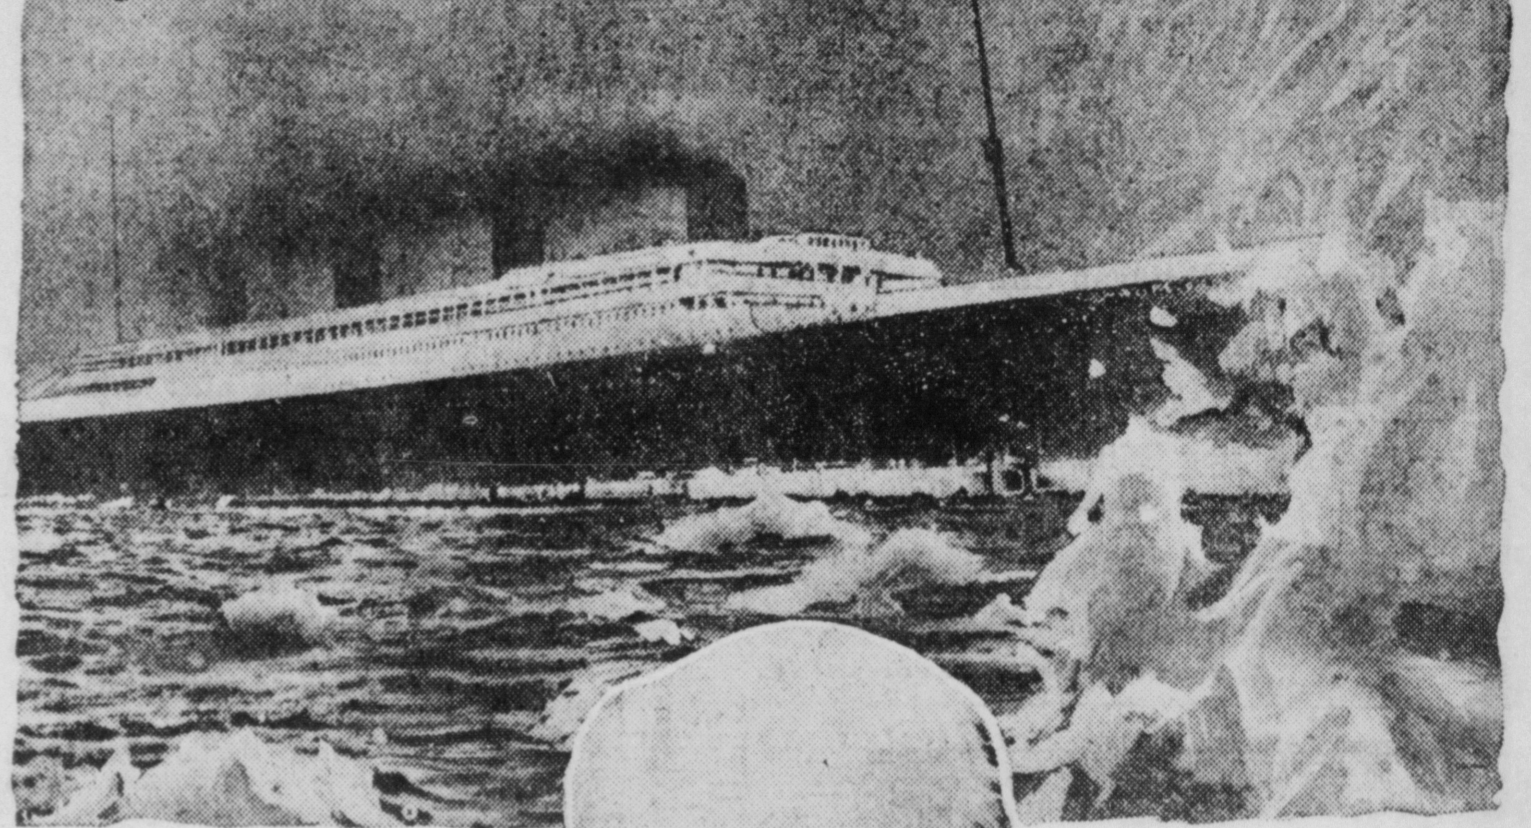

Mrs. Temple's grief changed to horror at such a bolt from the blue: "Walter!" she gasped, "such language!"

But her husband answered in self-defense: "Even a minister has a right to swear once in his lifetime."

A Wonderfully Prophetic Story

THE WRECK OF THE TITAN

by MORGAN ROBERTSON

Read How a Famous Author Described, Over A Decade Ago, How the

S. S. Titanic Would Sink And Drown Hundreds Of Souls

Published no less than fourteen years ago, this story is a wonderful forecast of what was to happen, and what did happen, to the steamship Titanic, off the Banks of New Foundland, when more than 1,500 lives were lost.

Read the graphic story of the loss of the Titan, empress of the seas as described by Robertson in 1898, and you will see and really live through the eventful night when the palatial Titanic crashed into an iceberg and sank two miles to ocean bottom.

In the fiction story, the Titan, supposed to be unsinkable, and indestructible, is wrecked by an iceberg along the Northern Lane Route of the Atlantic, and there are not sufficient lifeboats and rafts to take off the wrecked passengers and the greater part of 2,000 souls aboard the Titan are lost. The wreck occurs in about the same place that the Titanic sank.

First installment of the Wreck of the Titan will be published in the REPUBLICAN next Tuesday evening.

Registration Law.

The registration law is attracting considerable attention this year and is published below in a condensed form.

A voter is a male citizen who will be 21 years of age or over on day of election who is native born or naturalized, and has legal residence in his precinct, county and state. The election this year occurs on Tuesday, Nov. 5th, so a person born on Nov. 6th 21 years previous is a legal voter.

No man can vote without having previously registered.

A voter must be present in person to register.

A voter registers but once in precinct where he votes.

If a voter should change voting places, state, county, township or precinct he must register in one to which he moves and if previously registered, bring a certificate of such previous registry from County Auditor under signature and seal.

The Registration board will hold three sessions each year (in which elections occur) in each precinct in May, September and October. The first registration this year will be on Thursday, May 9th, and may last for three days if found necessary to accommodate the voters. The other two will be on Friday, September 6th, and Monday, October 7th, for only one day each. The hours for registering are 5 o'clock a. m. to 6 o'clock p. m. on registration days.

Registration blanks will be left at different places in each precinct that they may be obtained previous to day of registrations. A supply will also be on hands at the place of registration on days for registering.

A person who cannot write in English can sign in their own language, but must have signature of some one in English as attesting witness.

A "Want Ad." in the Republican is a "Want Ad." in the Home.

GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

A Simple Remedy Brings Back the Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

How often one hears the expression, "She is gray and beginning to look old." It is true that gray hair usually denotes age and is always associated with age. You never hear one referred to as having gray hair and looking young.

The hair is generally the index of age. If your hair is gray, you can't blame your friends for referring to you as looking old. You can't retain a youthful appearance if you allow your hair to grow gray. Many persons of middle age jeopardize their future simply by allowing the gray hair to become manifest. If your hair has become faded or gray, try Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation which a chemist by the name of Wyeth devised a few years ago. It is simple, inexpensive and practical, and will banish the gray hairs in a few days. It is also guaranteed to remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

It is a pleasant dressing for the hair, and after using it a few days itching and dryness of the scalp entirely disappear. Don't neglect your hair. Start using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur to-day, and you will be surprised at the quick results.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agents, Andrews Drug Co.

STRIKE TIES UP CHICAGO PAPERS

Stereotypers Voted to Break Their Contract.

JOINED STRIKING PRESSMEN

Decision Affecting Both the Morning and Afternoon Runs of Chicago Dailies Was Taken at the Close of One of the Most Turbulent Meetings in the History of Union Labor in the Windy City.

Chicago, May 4.—After one of the most turbulent meetings in the history of union labor in Chicago, stereotypers employed on the morning and evening papers in Chicago last night voted to break the contract they made three days ago and to join the striking pressmen and wagon drivers.

There were no papers on the newsstands and on the streets of Chicago today. The four morning papers were making good progress in getting out a paper with non-union pressmen, but at 11 o'clock last night the stereotypers employed on all the morning papers struck, refusing to work with non-union pressmen.

Brutal assaults on newsboys who tried to sell their papers on street corners in the loop, marked the progress of the newspaper strike.

TRYING IT OUT

British Merchants Finding the New "Shop Act" Full of Difficulties.

London, May 4.—A new experience in paternal government was begun May 1 by British shopkeepers. The "shops act of 1912" became operative on that day, and henceforth every employer included in its schedules will be compelled under penalties to grant his employees a weekly half-holiday and a definite period for their meals.

Under the provisions of the act most shops must henceforth be closed absolutely at 1:30 p. m., one day in the week, but exceptions in this respect are allowed in certain trades, such as saloons, restaurants, butchers and other dealers in perishable goods, as well as to the accountants, drug stores and newspaper vendors. These trades must nevertheless arrange for every employee to have the benefit of the act individually.

Three days of its working has sufficed to show that the details must be revised. The act inflicts inconvenience and even hardship in some cases. One of the chief difficulties in connection with restaurants is a compulsory forty-five minutes for waiters' meals which comes at the busiest period of the day. The waiters and waitresses also complain that the half holiday deprives them of a valuable proportion of their tips which in many cases form their sole earnings.

DARING ROBBERY

Is Laid at the Door of Prominent Citizen of Allentown.

New York, May 4.—On charges of grand larceny and being a fugitive from justice, William P. Saeger, member of a rich and influential family of Allentown, Pa., will appear for examination Sunday in Center street court. He was arrested in this city following the investigation of an exceedingly daring robbery in Allentown a week ago, when dynamite blew open a safe in the offices of the Saeger Milling company and seized securities valued at $60,000. Near the shattered safe was found a bag filled with sufficient dynamite to have wrecked the company's plant.

Saeger has made his home in and around New York at intervals for some years. Saeger's wife is a niece of former Mayor Charles F. Warwick of Philadelphia. The couple, who have two children, have been separated for some time.

Feared Her Husband.

Memphis, Tenn., May 4.—That Mrs. Olive D. Corrigill shot and killed her husband, Bailey T. Corrigill, because she feared Corrigill would kill her and their children, is asserted in a statement made by J. F. Rees, father of the woman. Mrs. Corrigill is under arrest.

Has Aroused Conjectures.

Tokio, May 4.—In view of the present conflict between the Chinese and Tibetans, there is considerable speculation here as to the significance of the Dalia Lama's gift of a golden image of Buddha to the mikado.

REBELS WIN

This Is the Gist of Brief Dispatch From General Campa.

El Paso, Tex., May 4.—That there has been fighting between the rebels and federals somewhere north of Torreon and south of Jimenez, is established, but Mexican official dispatches are enigmas.

The rebel officials in Juarez have received the following message, dated Rellano, state of Chihuahua: "Complete triumph on the part of our valiant companions in persecution of the federal forces. We have enjoyed a victory over the federals.—Gen. E. P. Campa."

The message does not say where the fight occurred or how many men were engaged, but the rebels in Juarez are celebrating.

CREATED BAD BLOOD

Rival Gypsy Chiefs Clash but Finally Adjust Differences.

Lafayette, Ind., May 4.—A tragedy was narrowly averted in rival gypsy camps south of Lafayette when John Henderson, the leader of a band of Russian gypsies, attempted with a revolver to force Adam Stanley of the other tribe, who had married Henderson's daughter a few days ago, to give the girl up or pay him $100. The two gypsy bands arrived together a few days ago. There had been bad blood between them ever since Stanley married the girl.

Henderson went to a justice of the peace and asked for an affidavit charging Stanley with abduction. Stanley, however, had an affidavit filed against Henderson charging him with attempt to kill. The affair was finally adjusted and the two gypsy tribes left for the east.

WOMEN PLAN TO PUSH THE FIGHT

Franchise League Is Perfecting a State Organization.

LEGISLATURE TO BE INVADED

Preparatory to the Campaign Which the Women of Indiana Expect to Wage Next Winter in Behalf of Their Demands For Equal Rights at the Polls, Local Organizations Are Being Perfected in Every County.

Indianapolis, May 4.—In order that the agitation for the bill granting full suffrage to women which will be presented at the next session of the state legislature may be carried on in an effective way, the Woman's Franchise League of Indiana is perfecting a state organization. Chairmen are being appointed by the league in each county, and these county chairmen will unite in appointing district chairmen. These chairmen will be called on to meet in Indianapolis on the occasion of the next Republican state convention, when the women will make an effort to have the Republicans embody a suffrage plank in their state platform. There will also be a campaign for membership conducted by the league throughout the state. The following have been appointed members of the state organization committee: Mrs. R. Harry Miller, chairman; Miss Harriet Noble and Mrs. R. C. Bennett.

Several capable women speakers will talk on subjects vital to suffrage at a meeting of the association in this city May 10.

MORE LEVEES ARE BREAKING

Louisiana Flood Situation Becoming Desperate.

NOW FIGHTING WITHOUT HOPE

Workers Along the Crumbling Levees Are Disheartened and Even the Government Engineers Who Are Directing Battle Against Swelling Tide, Can Give Almost No Word of Encouragement.

New Orleans, May 4.—The situation along the Mississippi river in Louisiana from the Arkansas line to the gulf, is desperate. Despite the feverish struggle with the swollen river, there is a general feeling of gloom throughout the state. Yesterday there was but one serious break, but it is conceded that other and very important crevasses are but a few hours off. A report that the great Morgansea dyke had gone out, with heavy life loss, as carried in press dispatches and heralded in extra editions, caused consternation, although it proved erroneous. The highest earth dam in the country still holds, but workers there are disheartened and even the federal engineers can give almost no word of encouragement. The people of the vicinity have been warned to prepare for the worst and rescue steps have been taken.

The break yesterday was at Bayou Sara, a town of 700 people. This and St. Francisville, just beyond, with a population of 600, are under water from ten to fifteen feet deep. The people all escaped.

Hard rains have fallen throughout the state, adding to the depression of the populace and further weakening the levees. The people of New Orleans are thoroughly awakened to the gravity of conditions. Several of the city dykes are in a precarious condition, and a break would not be a surprise at any time. The situation in the sugar country continues very grave. Waters from the Torras break are creeping south more slowly than was expected, but nevertheless are engulfing villages and rich plantations.

The loss will run up into the millions of dollars. The sugar cane, cotton, rice and corn crops, which were well advanced, will be a total loss before the flood has completed its destructive work. In addition to the crops, the loss of livestock will be very heavy. Torras is cut off from wire communication, the water having buried the cross arms on which the telegraph wires are strung. No loss of life has been reported from any point in the flooded area, but many stories of thrilling escapes are coming in.

Baby Drowned in Bucket.

Indianapolis, May 4.—When playing in the kitchen Myrtle Hiler, one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hiler, fell into a bucket almost filled with water and drowned.

Chose the Rope Route.

Dana, Ind., May 4.—William McAuliff, aged fifty-eight, a farmer living at the edge of town, committed suicide by hanging. He was a bachelor and lived with a sister.

WOMAN SICK TWELVE YEARS

Wants Other Women to Know How She Was Finally Restored to Health.

Louisiana, Mo.:—"I think a woman naturally dislikes to make her troubles known to the public, but complete restoration to health means so much to me that I cannot keep from telling mine for the sake of other suffering women."

"I had been sick about twelve years, and had eleven doctors. I had dragging down pains, pains at monthly periods, bilious spells, and was getting worse all the time. I would hardly get over one spell when I would be sick again. No tongue can tell what I suffered from cramps, and at times I could hardly walk. The doctors said I might die at one of those times, but I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got better right away. Your valuable medicine is worth more than mountains of gold to suffering women."

"Mrs. BERTHA MUFF, 503 N. 4th Street, Louisiana, Mo.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

An Appreciation.

The following is an article which appeared in the current issue of "The Billboard."

Fagan is dead—genial, affable, pleasant, sunny, good-hearted, kind and kindly John P. Fagan.

Can you think of anyone in the business whose going will be marked by a wider, deeper sense of person as loss? I cannot.

Cut down in the prime of life right in the midst of a career of great usefulness, it is hard, very hard to reconcile one's self to the Divine Decree or to see any reason, wisdom or justice in it.

It does mine, and I cannot help crying: "Why, Oh! Why was it necessary to call Fagan?"

There were, hundreds, thousands who could have been better spared.

There were many who would be better dead, aye, and many who would be glad to die.

Why should John be taken? John, who made the life of every friend he had more worth living. WATCHED.

FURTHER EVIDENCE

Tales of the Wreck of the Titanic Are Not Yet All Told.

New York, May 4.—Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, went up to the Waldorf to tell Senator W. A. Smith, head of the senate committee which is investigating the wreck of the Titanic, what he knew of erroneous news dispatches circulated throughout this country on the day that the Titanic sank. Mr. Stone took up the dispatches one by one and told Senator Smith what he knew of the source from which each came.

Besides Mr. Stone, the witnesses who talked to Senator Smith were Jack Binns, the wireless operator on the Republic when that ship sank, who told the senator what he knew of the range of the Carpathia's wireless, and commented on the construction of the Titanic; George A. Harder, who was returning by the Titanic from his wedding journey, happened to notice that some mechanism supposedly connected with the watertight compartments had gone wrong; a professional swimmer who said he could swim to Halifax if necessary, and two steerage passengers, one of whom made his escape clad in a woman's shawl. Both of the steerage passengers said that the people of the third class had an equal chance to escape with the rest.

THERE'S NO DOUBT BUT WHAT THAT RUFFIAN, IN HIS SMOOTH OILY WAY, HAS POISONED THE KING'S MIND AGAINST AN INNOCENT VICTIM TO GAIN HIS OWN DIABOLICAL ENDS.

ANNA BELLE GIVES A "GRADUATE" PARTY

Dear Friends:—I really think I did something original when I gave a "graduate party" a few nights ago. My teacher thought it a clever idea, but of course, I'll leave it to you to decide. You know many of the big girls are graduating now, so we girls about my age decided to have a little graduation of our own. Cute little diplomas were made and we got big Brother Tom to act as the principal. We all wore white dresses and carried flowers and really several who saw us say we were fully as good as the larger girls in the actual graduations. Brother Tom passed out the diplomas, and of course each of us had to reply to the calls of, "Speech! Speech!" All in all we had a most enjoyable time and if you have the time I'd suggest that you give one or have one among your friends, just as I did. The mailman has been good to me in the last few days, and I'm glad that so many of you think of me as you do and are thinking of organizing ANNA BELLE SEWING SOCIETIES. Some of my friends report good success with theirs and if you haven't done so, now is the time for you to begin the organization of one in your neighborhood. We have hopes of soon having a membership of all the good girls and boys of our land and of course you want your name in the big roster book. The design for our button has been decided on and I'll try and show it next week. Ask your mama to help you organize and I know she'll gladly help you. You know if you organize the SOCIETY the members will more than apt elect you president for your good work. Now wouldn't that be fine? Now I must close for this time, hoping to hear from you very soon, telling me of your SOCIETY and of new things you wish me to do or wear. Address me care this paper. Lovingly,

Anna Belle
